ABSTRACT

Reprinted in this pamphlet is the fifth annual directory of air pollution control products as compiled in the "Journal of the Air Pollution Control Association" for December, 1971. The 16-page guide lists manufacturers of emission control equipment and air pollution instrumentation under product classifications as derived from McGraw-Hill's "Air Pollution Handbook", chapters 10, 11, and 13. Product classes for emission control equipment are inertial separators, scrubbers and washers, fabric and fiber collectors, and other control techniques and apparatus, together with numerous sub-classes within each category. Air pollution instrumentation topics and sub-topics include samplers and collectors, analytical equipment, and miscellaneous instrumentation. The final portion of the guide contains an alphabetical listing of manufacturers and their addresses. (BL)

Product Guide/1972

The Journal of the Air Pollution Control Association presents its fifth annual directory of air pollution products. This 16-page guide lists manufacturers of emission control equipment and air pollution instrumentation under product classifications which are shown below. These classifications are derived from McGraw-Hill's Air Pollution Handbook, chapters 10, 11, and 13 . The final portion of this guide contains an alphabetical listing of manufacturers.

If any manufacturers or product categories have been inadvertently overlooked, the omission is regretted and should be brought to the attention of the editor. It will result in a more complete and accurate Product Guide/1973 to be published next December.
